The Statistics Korea (KOSTAT) set up a Korean system of statistics in Sri Lanka. (Article)
The E-today News, 29 November 2016.

The Statistics Korea (KOSTAT) announced that it has established the Korean style statistics system in Sri Lanka. The project duration was three years and it was started from 2014. KOSTAT established the integrated database (DB) and service system (LANKASIS) in 2014 and started the business strengthening capacity of human resources in statistics last year. This project was designed to enhance cooperation between Korea and Sri Lanka and increase sustainable statistical capacity for governmental officials and establish IT infrastructure in Sri Lanka for an advanced national statistical system.
